NPS Life Histories: Subsistence in Katmai National Park South Naknek

AUTHORIZATION TO USE AND ARCHIVE PHOTOGRAPHS AND AUDIO RECORDINGS

Patricia Partnow, under contract with the University of Alaska Fairbanks, which is in turn under contract with the National Park Service and Utah State University, will be conducting interviews, photographing interviewees, and borrowing personal photographs as part of an NPS project to document subsistence use in Katmai National Park and Preserve. The recordings and photographs will be used in a computer CD-ROM which will be made available to the public, at the Katmai Visitor Center, and in schools. The material may also be placed on a web site over the internet, if the interviewee agrees.

The CD-ROM will be made available free of charge, or for the cost of reproduction, to the public. It will not be sold for profit.

The recordings and photographs will also be archived at the University of Alaska Fairbanks Oral History Archives (Elmer E. Rasmuson Library).

The undersigned agrees to allow the use of the photographs and audio recordings for the above purpose. The undersigned further understands that when the material becomes the property of the Rasmuson Library it will be made available to researchers, writers, scholars, and the interested public according to its policies.

Please check here if you give permission for your interview to appear on the internet.

Further stipulations and restrictions may be made below.
